

without being connected